Cheap grace is the deadly enemy of our Church
We are fighting today for costly grace Cheap grace means grace sold on the market like cheapjacks' wares
The sacraments, the forgiveness of sin, and the consolations of religion... are thrown away at cut prices Grace is represented as the Church's inexhaustible treasury from which she showers blessings with generous hands without asking questions or fixing limits Grace without price; grace without cost!
The essence of grace, we suppose, is that the account has been paid in advance Cheap grace means grace as a doctrine, a principle, a system
It means forgiveness of sins proclaimed as a general truth the love of God taught as the Christian 'conception' of God An intellectual assent to that idea is held to be of itself sufficient to secure
In such a Church the world finds a cheap covering for its sins no contrition is required, still less any real desire to be delivered from sin Cheap grace therefore amounts to a denial of the living Word of God TS in fact, a denial of the Incarnation of the Word of God Cheap grace means the justification of sin without the justification of the sinner Grace alone does everything they say Well, then, let the Christian live like the rest of the world let him model himself on the world's standards in every sphere of life and not presumptuously aspire to live a different life under grace from his old life under sin....
Cheap grace is the grace we bestow on ourselves Cheap grace is the preaching of forgiveness without requiring repentance baptism without church discipline Communion without confession.... grace without the cross Cheap grace is grace without discipleship grace without Jesus Christ, living and incarnate Costly grace is the treasure hidden in the field for the sake of it a man will gladly go and sell all that he has
It is the kingly rule of Christ for whose sake a man will pluck out the eye which causes him to stumble it is the call of Jesus Christ at which the disciple leaves his nets and follows Costly grace is the gospel which must be sought again and again and again the gift which must be asked for, the door at which a man must knock Such grace is costly because it calls us to follow and it is grace because it calls us to follow Jesus Christ
It is costly because it costs a man his life and it is grace because it gives a man the only true life It is costly because it condemns sin, and grace because it justifies the sinner and what has cost God much cannot be cheap for us Grace is costly because it compels a man to submit to the yoke of Christ it is grace because Jesus says: "My yoke is easy and my burden is light."

Inventing the Future

A major new manifesto for the end of capitalism Neoliberalism isn't working. Austerity is forcing millions into poverty and many more into precarious work, while the left remains trapped in stagnant political practices that offer no respite. Inventing the Future is a bold new manifesto for life after capitalism.

Against the confused understanding of our high-tech world by both the right and the left, this book claims that the emancipatory and future-oriented possibilities of our society can be reclaimed. Instead of running from a complex future, Nick Srnicek and Alex Williams demand a postcapitalist economy capable of advancing standards, liberating humanity from work and developing technologies that expand our freedoms. This new edition includes a new chapter where they respond to their various critics.

Everything I Was

Thirteen-year-old Irene helps in her grandfather's plant nursery, makes new friends, and begins to learn what she really wants and needs after her father, having lost his job as an investment banker, moves her and her mother to his father's farmhouse upstate.

High Tension

High Tension lends an entirely different dimension to the history of the great hydro-electric Shannon Scheme of 1925-1929. Hitherto the story has been told from an engineering viewpoint. Now historian Michael McCarthy brings new perspectives to bear on the Irish Free State's most audacious construction project at Ardnacrusha. How did the German and Irish workforces get on? What was life like for the 5000-odd navvies and their families, many of them living in barns and pigsties along the nine-mile stretch of the 'Irish Klondyke'? How did the local farmers and householders in Clare and Limerick cope with the massive explosions and disruptions? How did those who lost homes, lands, livelihoods and loved ones (53 died and hundreds were injured during construction) cope with the trauma and hardship? The guns of the Civil War were scarcely silenced when the Irish government embarked on this huge undertaking, with vision and scarce resources. High Tension details the interdepartmental rivalry among civil servants, the struggles with the labour movement and strong-arm tactics of Joe McGrath, the dogfights with vested interest groups and overburdened local services, and the compensation battles that dragged on years after the Scheme opened. On the 75th anniversary of that opening it seems fitting to tell for the first time this fascinating story.

In a good way." So says Ben MacCarthy's beloved mentor, and it is this fateful advice that will guide Ben through the tumultuous events of Ireland in 1956. The national mood is downtrodden; poverty, corruption, and an armed rebellion rattle the countryside; and although Ben wants no part of the insurrection, he unknowingly falls in with an IRA sympathizer. Yet despite his perilous circumstances, all he can think about is finding his former wife and true love, Venetia Kelly, who after many years has returned to Ireland with her brutish new husband, a popular stage performer. Determined not to lose Venetia again, Ben calls upon every bit of his passion and courage to win her back, while finally reconciling his violent past with his hopes for a bright future. San Francisco is the endgame of gentrification, where racialized displacement means that the Black population of the city hovers at just over 3 percent. The Robeson Justice Academy opened to serve the few remaining low-income neighborhoods of the city, with the mission of offering liberatory, social justice--themed education to youth of color. While it features a progressive curriculum including Frantz Fanon and Audre Lorde, the majority Latinx school also has the district's highest suspension rates for Black students. In Progressive Dystopia Savannah Shange explores the potential for reconciling the school's marginalization of Black students with its sincere pursuit of multiracial uplift and solidarity. Drawing on ethnographic fieldwork and six years of experience teaching at the school, Shange outlines how the school fails its students and the community because it operates within a space predicated on antiblackness. Seeing San Francisco as a social laboratory for how Black communities survive the end of their worlds, Shange argues for abolition over revolution or progressive reform as the needed path toward Black freedom.
