Gabriela Firea a avut ieri una dintre cele mai provocatoare zile din ultimii ani.

Cel mai adoptat stil de viata la nivel international reprezinta un adevarat pericol pentru sanatatea noastra. Fastigul sau pauza alimentara este distrugator pentru inima.

Viata lui este cu adevarat o poveste, una fara sfarsit, caci maestrul Florin Piersic continua zilnic sa o scrie.

Banci in forma de roaba, de sarpe sau de barca - sunt doar o parte dintre creatiile unor elevi si studenti din Brasov, care au raspuns unei provocari inedite de a face mobilier urban.

Povesti uluitoare, momente dificile si probe spectaculoase - toate sunt ingredientele reality show-ului de senzatie: „Insula de 1 milion”. Printre cei mai infocati fani ai emisiunii sunt Andreea Mantea si fiul ei, David.

Boardroom Ready Women

BBC TV's Steph McGovern says "I meet so many business women who shy away from the limelight or hesitate to put themselves forward for promotion, despite the fact they are brilliant at their jobs. Sue's insight into life as a business leader, and the model she has developed from it, offers women the tools needed to build their confidence and really nail it in business." This book gives aspiring women leaders in business, insights and practical tools to overcome the very common hurdles they typically face inside the workplace and out. Providing techniques that will transform middle and senior level females to become exceptional leaders, deliver strong business results and thrive with a healthy career/life balance.

A Woman's Place is in the Boardroom

There are relatively few women in senior executive positions and on the boards of major companies. Based upon research and in the context of contemporary management debates the authors argue the business case for promoting women to these positions in order to create more value for shareholders. The book draws upon interviews with chairpersons and chief executives and includes case study material.

A Woman's Place is in the Boardroom

In the bestseller A Woman's Place is in the Boardroom the authors described the problem, gave comprehensive views of how it looked from both sides, and presented the arguments for positive change. This book is all about the 'how to'. It takes all the arguments and analysis of the first book, and focuses on how to apply it and what to do.

More Women on Boards

More Women on Boards: An International Perspective is the seventh volume in the Women and Leadership: Research, Theory, and Practice book series. The purpose of this volume is to explore the complexity of issues related to increasing the number of women on boards of directors around the world: how these issues have been understood; how they have been more and less successfully addressed in different countries and industries; and how they are similar, and yet different, as a results of cultural and legal differences. In the Introduction and 18 chapters included in this book, 42 researchers, activists, and practitioners who were raised or work today in at least 17 countries on 6 continents seek to answer the questions: "Why have women on boards?" "Why is adding women to boards so challenging?" "What actions increase the number of women on boards?" and "What can we learn from situations where there are women board members?" In seeking to answer these questions, the authors summarize previously existing research and share the results of their own recent qualitative and quantitative research studies conducted in many different countries. Both "fix the woman" and "fix the society" challenges and solutions are explored. Stories of women who have successfully joined and, in many cases, led boards of directors are shared. It is clear to us, and we believe will be clear to those who read this book, that there is no single program that will lead to gender equality on boards; however we believe that the authors in this volume provide a rich variety of research and well supported suggestions for addressing the challenges. When local cultures are considered and multiple suggestions implemented as appropriate, we are confident we will, together, increase the number of women on boards throughout the world.

The Rise of the Female Executive

Provides a timely review of gender equality in the boardroom, and through interviews with mentors and mentees it illustrates how mentoring can play a part in helping women stay engaged in their career. This book includes international comparisons and an examination of the UK and EU political environments.

The Network Trap

As we begin the third decade of the twenty-first century, women have entered the workplace in unprecedented numbers, are now outperforming men in terms of educational qualifications, and are excelling across a range of professional fields. Yet men continue to occupy the positions of real power in large corporations. This book draws on unique, unprecedented access to Chairs of FTSE 350 Chairs, boardroom aspirants and executive head-hunters, to explain why this is the case. The analysis it presents establishes that the relative absence of women in boardroom roles is not explained by their lack of relevant skills, experience or ambition, but instead by their exclusion from the powerful male-dominated networks of key organisational decision-makers. It is from within these networks that candidates are sourced, endorsed, sponsored, and championed. Yet women's efforts to penetrate these networks are instead likely to trap them into network relationships that will be of little value in helping them to fulfil their career aspirations. The analysis also identifies why women struggle to gain access to these networks, and in doing so, it demonstrates that the network trap in which women find themselves will not be overcome simply by encouraging them to change their networking behaviours. Instead, there is a need for a fundamental reconsideration of how boardroom recruitment and selection is conducted and regulated, to ensure the development of a more open, transparent and equitable process.

No Seat at the Table

Women are completing MBA and Law degrees in record high numbers, but their struggle to attain director positions in corporate America continues. Although explanations for this disconnect abound, neither career counselors nor scholars have paid enough attention to the role that corporate governance plays in maintaining the gender gap in America's executive quarters. Mining corporate governance models applied at Fortune 500 companies, hundreds of Title VII discrimination cases, and proxy statements, Douglas M. Branson suggests that women have been ill-advised by experts, who tend to teach females how to act like their male, executive counterparts. Instead, women who aspire to the boardroom should focus on the decision-making processes nominating committees—usually dominated by white men—employ when voting on membership. Filled with real-life cases, No Seat at the Table opens the closed doors of the boardroom and reveals the dynamics of the corporate governance process and the double standards that often characterize it. Based on empirical evidence, Branson concludes that women have to follow different paths than men in order to gain CEO status, and as such, encourages women to make flexible, conscious, and often frequent shifts in their professional behaviors and work ethics as they climb the corporate ladder.

Women in the Boardroom

The essential guide to Office Politics, Networking with Decision Makers and Working with "the Boys" Summary A bully undermines you in front of your staff. What do you say? A colleague wants your job. How do you shaft him/her nicely? These questions and more are covered by this practical guide for aspiring executives, leaders and board members. Written by experienced corporate managers and directors "Women in the Boardroom" is aimed at young go-getters seeking progression and the more mature for leadership and governance roles. Packed full of case studies, scripts and glossaries of finance, sporting and business terms, this guide can be tucked into your handbag and dragged out when navigating the shark-infested waters of office politics. Contents include: Recruitment strategies and the secrets of psychometric testing; How to play "the Players"; Understanding finance and IT; Chairing effective meetings; Networking tips; and Communicating with men. Let's face it. To hunt a bear, you have to think like a bear.

Challenging Boardroom Homogeneity

This book uses interviews with corporate board directors in Norway and analysis of US corporate securities filings to investigate quotas and disclosure in hiring practices.

No Ceiling, No Walls

The 'Girls' in The BoardRoom by Ibukun Awosika In this book, I have sought to share stories of women who have actively worked to earn their seats at the table; to celebrate the women who have, despite all the challenges of gender, built successful careers in the boardroom. And to use the stories and experiences of these women as a tool to equip and inspire other women who aspire to climb the career ladder and land top positions. Sit back and enjoy the journey through the eyes of these relentless women. IBUKUN AWOSIKA is the Founder and CEO of The Chair Centre Group. She chairs and serves on a number of corporate and not for profit boards. Ibukun is a graduate of Chemistry from University of Ife (now Obafemi Awolowo University), Nigeria; an alumna of the Chief Executive Programme of Lagos Business School, the Global Executive MBA of IESE Business School, Barcelona Spain and the Global CEO Programme of Wharton, IESE and China European International Business School (CEIBS). With a keen interest in social issues, particularly the advancement of women, Ibukun is a co-founder and past chairperson of Women in Business, Management and Public Service (WIMBIZ). Ibukun is also the founder of the Christian Missionary Fund; through this faithbased organisation, she works with hundreds of missionaries spread across Nigeria to change lives with the provision of medical, educational and other supplies. Ibukun is a multiple award-winning entrepreneur and the first Nigerian recipient of the prestigious International Women Entrepreneurial Challenge (IWECC) Award as a nominee of the U.S. Department of state in 2008. She is passionate about women, youth and her beloved country, Nigeria. Ibukun is happily married to Abiodun Awosika and they are blessed with three wonderful sons

The 'Girls' in The BoardRoom

One of New Zealand's most respected and influential businesswomen, Joan Withers has been a champion of diversity in the workplace and a trailblazer for women in the boardroom. Despite leaving school with only School Certificate at 16, Joan rose to the top of New Zealand's largest media organisation and has chaired the boards of several leading companies. In this candid book she shares insights on how to achieve career success while holding together family life, and offers key learnings from more than 25 years as a woman at the top of the corporate ladder. This is an empowering read for anyone looking to advance their career, and especially for women wanting to succeed in the workplace.

A Woman's Place

This edited collection provides a structured and in-depth analysis of the current use of multiple approaches beyond quotas for resolving the pressing issue of gender inequality, and the lack of female representation on corporate boards. Filling the gap in existing literature on this topic, the two volumes of Gender Diversity in the Boardroom offers systematic overviews of current debates surrounding the optimisation of gender diversity, and the suggested pathways for progress. Focusing on sixteen European countries, the skilled contributors explore the current situation in relation to women on boards debates and approaches taken. They include detailed reflections from critical stakeholders, such as politicians, practitioners and policy-makers. Volume 2 focuses on eight European countries having multiple approaches beyond quotas and is a promising and highly valuable resource for academics, practitioners, policy makers and anyone interested in gender diversity because it examines and critiques the current corporate governance system and national strategies for increasing the share of women not only on boards, but within companies beyond the boardroom.

Gender Diversity in the Boardroom

An accessible and timely guide to increasing female presence and leadership in tech companies Tech giants like Apple and Google are among the fastest growing companies in the world, leading innovations in design and development. The industry continues to see rapid growth, employing millions of people: in the US it is at the epicenter of the American economy. So why is it that only 5% of senior executives in the tech industry are female? Underrepresentation of women on boards of directors, in the C-suite, and as senior managers remains pervasive in this industry. As tech companies are plagued with high-profile claims of harassment and discrimination, and salary discrepancies for comparable work, one asks what prevents women from reaching management roles, and, more importantly, what can be done to fix it? The Future of Tech is Female considers the paradoxes involved in women's ascent to leadership roles, suggesting industry-wide solutions to combat gender inequality. Drawing upon 15 years of experience in the field, Douglas M. Branson traces the history of women in the information technology industry in order to identify solutions for the issues facing women today. Branson explores a variety of solutions such as mandatory quota laws for female employment, pledge programs, and limitations on the H1-B VISA program, and grapples with the challenges facing women in IT from a range of perspectives. Branson unpacks the plethora of reasons women should hold leadership roles, both in and out of this industry, concluding with a call to reform attitudes toward women in one particular IT branch, the video and computer gaming field, a gateway to many STEM futures. An invaluable resource for anyone invested in gender equality in corporate governance, The Future of Tech is Female lays out the first steps toward a more diverse future for women in tech leadership

The Future of Tech Is Female

Board-Seeker

If you're a working woman who wants to get ahead, S.K.I.R.T.S. in the Boardroom will equip you with the strategies you need to combine confidence and compassion, style and substance, and beauty and brains for professional success. It will help you navigate the male-dominated corporate world and keep you inspired when you're unmotivated and unsatisfied with your career. A must for any woman who wants to maximize her professional potential, this book offers sensible, straightforward, and long-overdue advice.

S.K.I.R.T.S in the Boardroom

Employees should be entitled to ask for flexible working from the outset, not only after they have been in a job for six months, says the Report. Additionally, the Government should establish a voluntary Code of Practice to highlight best practice in the provision of quality part-time and flexible working, and must dispel the myth that any type of flexible working is problematic and cannot work. The Report also urges the Government to reconsider its decisions to introduce fees for pregnancy discrimination cases, and to 'call time' on the undertaking of Equality Impact Assessments. It further recommends that the questionnaire procedures in discrimination cases and the Public Sector Equality Duty should be retained in their current forms. The Committee notes that Government policy in these areas runs counter to its professed commitment to equality

Women in the workplace

Successful women rarely set out to become role models. They just do the best they can, and hopefully that becomes inspirational for other women.

A Woman's Place

Both the practitioner and academic communities have voiced strong opinions regarding the progress of women in reaching the executive suite and the corporate boardroom. Proponents on each side of the current debate offer evidence suggesting the accuracy of their respective positions. One view holds: "The fight is over. The battle is won. Women are now accepted as outside directors in the preponderance of corporate boardrooms" (Lear, 1994: 10). An alternative perspective, however, suggests there is much progress left. An illustration of the type of remaining barriers is provided by T. J. Rodgers, chief executive officer (CEO) of Cypress Semiconductor Corp. , who has commented that "a 'woman's view' on how to run our semiconductor company does not help us" (Rodgers, 1996: 14). Regardless of where one falls along the spectrum anchored at one end by the view that women have made substantial progress in reaching the upper echelons of corporations and anchored at the other end by the view that women have barely begun to penetrate the "inner sanctum" of corporations, the central issue is the extent to which women have succeeded in cracking the proverbial "glass ceiling." The glass ceiling is a metaphorical barrier which prevents women from attaining the upper-most organizational positions (e.g. , Karr, 1991; Morrison, White, Van Velsor, and the Center for Creative Leadership, 1992; Powell & Butterfield, 1994; U. S. Department of Labor, 1991).

Women on Corporate Boards of Directors

The lack of women on boards has galvanised much public and policy interest, which has led to many countries introducing quotas for women on boards, or to concerted voluntary action. However the way that directors are appointed remains opaque and prone to the influence of gender. Using a social constructionist understanding of gender and a discourse analysis, Gender and Corporate Boards explores the board appointment process through the experiences of women and men seeking non-executive board roles. The book is unique in that it traces board-ready candidates, who have been vetted by an executive search firm, over an 18-month period. By taking a longitudinal and prospective view rather than retrospective and snapshot, it provides deep analysis of how the board appointment process is gendered. This volume privileges the voices of those who are seeking board roles to show how they make sense of an unpredictable and complex process. Gender and Corporate Boards first analyses how aspirant board candidates see themselves in relation to the market, through exploring their perceptions of the ideal board member and how they position themselves towards this ideal. Second, the book shows how candidates must leverage their networks to get board appointments, and that the process is gendered: women and men receive different benefits from their networks. Third, the book explores how the participants make sense of success and failure and how their justifications are also gendered. The book will be of interest to those seeking to understand dynamics of gender on boards as well as those interested in gender and leadership more broadly.

Gender and Corporate Boards

Gender, Science and Innovation explores the contemporary challenges facing women scientists in academia and develops effective strategies to improve gender equality. Addressing an important gap in current knowledge, chapters offer a range of international perspectives from diverse contexts, countries and institutional settings. This book is an essential contribution to the literature for academics, researchers and policy makers concerned with improving gender equality in academia and seeking to learn from the experiences of others.

How to Become a Chief Financial Officer in the Boardroom and in the Bedroom

Nowadays, woman presence in the labor force has become more active in most of the countries worldwide and specially in the MENA region, where woman start to participate in decision making. Even that, woman positions in the workplace is still lower than their male counterpart, but they started to get higher positions than before, such as in parliament and in lot of other work sections (transportation and equipment, construction, finance, food; etc.) and they had the chance to get higher positions in the corporation's boardroom. In this study, we are going to discuss woman presence in the corporate boards and how they perceive boardroom dynamics through an online questionnaire, send to 66 companies using social media networks such as LinkedIn to get the results of our survey. Based on participant's results, we can conclude that woman are still considered as minorities in the boardroom despite their abilities, knowledge and performance so they still face problems regarding the procedural and distributive justice as well as the task and relationship conflicts in the workplace.

Gender, Science and Innovation

A continuing issue in the corporate governance literature pertains to the difficulties in evaluating the benefits of a diverse board, specifically the value added by women corporate directors. To address a critical element in the business case for women in corporate governance, Bilimoria and Wheeler (2000) called for research on women directors' contributions to effective boardroom behaviors, particularly with regard to how they can use their influence and skills to generate productive boardroom discourse, engage other directors in full discussion of the relevant issues, and facilitate effective boardroom decision-making. In this chapter, we address an important aspect of how women directors contribute in such ways to effective boardroom deliberations: how they raise and champion difficult or divisive issues of the kind that otherwise may not be dealt with directly.

How Women Perceive Boardroom Dynamics in the Corporate Boards

Distinguished governance experts offer cures for what ails our boards of directors. In light of corporate malfeasance in recent years, the governance of corporations has been receiving great attention from regulators, researchers, shareholders, and directors themselves. Based on Richard Leblanc's in-depth five-year study of 39 boards of directors of both for- and not-for-profit organizations, Building a Better Board goes behind the scenes to reveal the inner workings of boards of directors, including how they make decisions. Recently chosen as one of Canada's "Top 40 Under 40" (TM), Dr. Richard Leblanc is an award-winning teacher and researcher, certified management consultant, professional speaker, professor, lawyer and specialist on boards of directors. He can be reached at rleblanc@yorku.ca. James Gillies, PhD (Toronto, Ontario, Canada), is Professor Emeritus at the Schulich School of Business, York University, where he serves as Chair of the Canada-Russia Corporate Governance Program.

Research the Position of Women on Corporate Boards of Directors

Too few women are landing boardroom positions. We still have not achieved gender equality despite powerful business cases. Research has found that balanced gender teams drive stronger business performance. In Handbags in the Boardroom, Sandra Green shares over 30 different reasons why women haven't made it to the boardroom. She also provides a wealth of information as to what women can do to achieve career fulfillment. In this book, Sandra shares with you her practical exercises to help you to boost your confidence as a leader. Help you get your message across and navigate your way through the organisation. Reconnect to your leadership ambition. Learn how to step out of the shadows and earn the respect you deserve. Lead with authenticity. Sandra Green is an executive coach, specialising in female leadership. Drawing on her own experience of working in the corporate world and her experience of working with C-Suite clients, Sandra helps women to have greater courage, belief and presence.

Inside the Boardroom

Through real life accounts that capture the essence of women's adaptability, flexibility and foresight, From the Kitchen Sink to the Boardroom will empower women to build on the skills they develop while managing a home and family and encourage them to move successfully into the workplace. Featuring women from varied walks of life, this book shows how their personal and domestic skills can and have been harnessed into profitable and valued leading roles in modern day business.

S.K.I.R.T.S in the Boardroom

Using a social constructionist understanding of gender and a discourse analysis, Gender and Corporate Boards explores the board appointment process through the experiences of women and men seeking non-executive board roles.

'Girls' in the Boardroom

From the Ballroom to the Boardroom is a must-have literature, diarising the collage of experiences and opinions of women from many different parts of the world such as London, Netherlands, South Africa, Boston, Pakistan, New York, Haiti, Bangalore, Chile and elsewhere, who have come together to motivate, inspire and change attitudes. The book boldly explores lifestyle, career and everything else in between that is experienced by the 21st century woman. Most people only want to talk about their successes, but very few have the confidence and courage to share the ugly and real bits, this book encourages women to draw the curtain aside on their insecurities and also addresses ways in which men and women can take steps to work together to effect positive changes both within society and the work environment. Book Review: From the Ballroom to the Boardroom defies tradition. Praise to the author for challenging convention and boldly exploring themes such as: leadership, gender bias, social and psychological barriers, entrepreneurship, racism by passport, men and women working together to bridge the gender gap, etc. Marco Geuna, Head of Mission at Malteser International This labour of love is a true gift to all women in every corner of the world. Valerie succeeds in showing how women from many cultures confront the challenges in their lives and in their psyches to make successes of their lives and careers while making huge contributions to their societies and their communities. Marthe Muller, Chief Operations Officer, South African Women in Dialogue A percentage of the proceeds of the book will be going to the following organisations: - The Sunflower Foundation (Australia) Inc.- Centurion Hope Foundation (CHF) non-profit organisation- The International Community of Women Living with HIV/AIDs, Chile (ICW Chile)- POSITIVE RUNWAY: Global catwalk to stop the spread

From Kitchen Sink to Boardroom Table

VisuaLeadership [noun]: The art and science of applying visual thinking and visual communication tools, tips, and techniques, in order to turn your vision into reality. If a picture is worth a thousand words, and finding the right words takes time, and time is money, then wouldn't it follow that business leaders could make more money—in less time—if they simply took a more "visual" approach to how they manage and lead? Okay, it's not quite that simple...but VisuaLeadership will forever change the way you think and communicate by showing how you can quickly and easily leverage the power of visual imagery, mental models, metaphor, analogy, storytelling, and humor to help you take your game to a whole new level. The French novelist Marcel Proust famously wrote that, "The real voyage of discovery consists not in seeking new lands, but in seeing with new eyes." So, if your vision is to become a better communicator and presenter, a more innovative thinker, a more productive performer, a more efficient manager, a more effective coach, or a more visionary and inspirational leader, then this exciting new book will open your "mind's eye" to a whole new world: The world of VisuaLeadership. "Have you added visual communication to your leadership toolbox? According to Todd Cherches, if you haven't, you're missing out on a powerful tool to capture attention, aid comprehension, and enable your team members to retain the information you need them to use. Packed with examples, VisuaLeadership will help you develop this skill so that you can become a better communicator, innovator, and leader." —Daniel H. Pink, author of When and Drive "The most effective communicators and leaders use the power of story to influence and inspire action. In VisuaLeadership, Cherches demonstrates how every role can express their ideas through the use of visual imagery and visual language. This book will help anyone discover how to become a visual leader." —Nancy Duarte, CEO and bestselling author "I always say that 'what got you here...won't get you there.' To help you 'get there,' executive coach Todd Cherches, in his wonderful new book, VisuaLeadership, demonstrates how we can all leverage the power of visual thinking to envision—and to achieve—a more successful future." —Marshall Goldsmith, the world's #1 Leadership Thinker and Executive Coach

Gender and Corporate Boards

A powerful clarion call for women leaders to harness their faith to transform the world of business—and cultivate a more diverse, supportive system for all Women around the globe are being divinely called to change the world of business with a new kind of leadership. It's time for us to wake up and prepare for the challenge. Why are we still seeing gender pay gaps and a lack of diversity in our workforces? We all know these systemic inequalities persist, so why haven't we fixed them yet? Dion Johnson has excelled in her field as a black woman in a white man's world; facially disfigured in a beauty-obsessed world; a devoted Christian in a secular world. She knows first-hand how unequal the system can be. In 2013, Dion, led by God, began challenging women leaders to respond to the call to show up, speak up and shake things the hell up in their industry. Since then, Dion has served passionately as a strategic ally supporting women to evolve, rise above leadership challenges, and be more influential in their role. In this book she offers a development framework for senior leaders who want to initiate hard change without sabotaging their health or self-esteem. Influential Woman has the power to spark a revolution in the way we lead and do business—to make the marketplace a force for love, justice and equality. We are influential women and now is our time to rise up and take action!
