Le chemin comme il vient

This is the first of two collections of articles by Robert-Henri Bautier on the economic history of medieval Europe to be published by Variorum; the second Commerce Méditerranéen et Banquiers Italiens au Moyen Âge, will appear in 1992. A further pair of volumes will deal with the political and institutional history of medieval France. The present selection concentrates on the structure of commerce within the territories of medieval France. The articles examine, first, the physical network of land and river routes along which the merchants travelled, and second, the fairs at which they gathered to trade their wares. Attention is given, too, to the movement of textiles, one of the key items of medieval trade, notably those of Belgium (then part of the French kingdom), and especially, to the history of the fairs of Champagne, from the late 12th to the early 14th century the greatest commercial and financial centre of Western Europe.

La Voie de Tours à vélo au départ de Paris

A classic of modern French literature, the thrilling real-life story of the military hero, ambassador, ladies man, writer, and loving son I grew up longing for the day when I could tear down the veil of darkness and absurdity concealing the true face of the universe and discover at last a smile of kindness and wisdom; I grew up in the certitude that one day I should help my fellow men to wrest the world from our enemies and give back the earth to those who ennoble it with their courage and warm it with their love. Promise at Dawn begins as the story of a mother's sacrifice: alone and poor, she fights fiercely to give her son the very best. Romain Gary chronicles his childhood in Russia, Poland, and on the French Riviera; he recounts his adventurous life as a young man fighting for France in World War II. But above all he tells the story of the love for his mother that was his very life—their secret and private planet, their wonderland “born out of a mother's murmur into a child's ear, a promise whispered at dawn of future triumphs and greatness, of justice and love.”

Réseaux urbains

Dans Essai d'histoire locale, Djiguiba Camara, un intermédiaire colonial et un interprète, décrit l'histoire de la Haute Guinée, de l'empire de Samori Touré et des résistances anticoloniales. In Essay on Local History, Djiguiba Camara, a colonial intermediary and interpreter, describes the history of Upper Guinea, with emphasis on the Empire of Samori Touré and of anticolonial local resistance.
