Annual Report of the Commissioner of Railroads and Telegraphs to the Governor of the State of Ohio for the Year

Excerpt from Annual Report of the Commissioner of Railroads and Telegraphs to the Governor of the State of Ohio: For the Year 1867 Sir: - In obedience to the requirements of the law, I have the honor of submitting my first annual report of the condition and affairs of Railroad and Telegraph companies in the State of Ohio. The law creating the office of Commissioner was passed on the 5th of April, 1867, and requires a report to be made on or before the first day of January following. In so short a time it will hardly be expected that the first report of the Commissioner will be as perfect, the statistics as complete, or the matter as fully and clearly presented as the magnitude of the subject demands. I must content myself with giving briefly such information and facts as I have been able to gather in the time allowed. As soon after entering upon the duties of the office as it could be prepared, I issued Circular Number I., of May 1st, 1867, which will be found in the appendix to this report. I attempted in this to give my understanding of the law, and the duties and obligations imposed by it To this circular I received prompt response from most of the railway companies of the State, and, from all who expressed any opinion on the subject, cordial approval of its terms. Upon the general plan laid down therein I have acted, seeking every opportunity to gain information and acquaint myself, as far as possible, with the condition and wants of railway companies, their defects and failures to comply with the laws in force intended for their regulation, and the necessities of the public growing out of their construction and use in the State as a mode of transportation. To this end I have hastily passed over nearly every railroad in Ohio and, as far as possible, conferred with the officers, making such general inquiries and examination of the lines as would enable me to understand their geographical position and general character. This specific duty was not imposed by the law, but I have found it highly beneficial, and I trust not without some advantage to the public. I have been cordially received and courteously treated by all the officers, and the information derived from these visits will, for the most part, be found in the brief history and condition of the roads, given in another part of this report. I have, at the same time, been in correspondence and communication with the people living on the lines of the several roads, and investigated as far as possible, every complaint made to me. These complaints will also be brought to your notice. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Annual Report of the Commissioner of Railroads and Telegraphs to the Governor of the State of Ohio for the Year .

Excerpt from Eleventh Annual Report of the Commissioner of Railroads and Telegraphs to the Governor of the State of Ohio: For the Year Ending June 30, 1877 To the Hon. Thomas L. Young, Governor of Ohio: Sir: I have the honor to submit herewith the eleventh annual report of this department. The aim has been to make it a full and accurate exhibit of the condition and affairs of the several companies having lines of railway within the State at the close of the year ending June 30, and also to show the extent of the traffic, earnings, and operations for the year. To that end the returns made have been subjected to critical examination and comparison, the separate items being carefully verified wherever practicable. The tabulations from returns received, given in the appendix, will aid in a comparison of the length, equipment, and cost of the several lines, the earnings thereon, with the expenses and results of operating. The capital stock, other liabilities, and assets of each company are also given. These tables are followed by copies of the required reports made to this office by the several companies owning the lines, and of the supplemental reports of operating made by lessees where a road is not operated by the company. A brief summary of the leading items shown by the reports made for the year ending June 30, 1877, as compared with those of the year preceding, shows the following results: The aggregate length of main line and branches, 8,292.52 miles, is an increase of 290.21 miles. The earnings and traffic reported were upon 8,064.86 miles, which is 200.81 miles greater length than operated year previous. The net gain in length of line within the State for the year was 259.82 miles; for 1876 it was 58 miles. Number of passengers carried, 16,995,589, is a falling off, deducting the Marietta, Pittsburg and Cleveland, not reporting, and five suburban lines not included this year, of 681,063. Freight tonnage was 30,338,004, an increase of 990,205 tons. The gross earnings of operated line, $58,095,489.87, is a decrease in amount of $5,165,650.76. Annual Report of the Commissioner of Railroads and Telegraphs to the Governor of the State of Ohio for the Year . . Volume 1873 - Primary Source Editio

While many Civil War reference books exist, there is no single compendium that contains important details about the combatant states (and territories) that Civil War researchers can readily access for their work. People looking for information about the organizations, activities, economies, demographics, and prominent personalities of Civil War States and state governments must assemble data from a variety of sources, with many key sources remaining unavailable online. This crucial reference book, the fifth in the States at War series, provides vital information on the organization, activities, economies, demographics, and prominent personalities of Ohio during the Civil War. Its principal sources include the Official Records, state adjutant-general reports, legislative journals, state and federal legislation, federal and state executive speeches and proclamations, and the general and special orders issued by the military authorities of both governments, North and South. Designed and organized for easy use by professional historians and amateurs, this book can be read in two ways: by individual state, with each chapter offering a stand-alone history of an individual state's war years; or across states, comparing reactions to the same event or solutions to the same problems.

Annual Report of the Commissioner of Railroads and Telegraphs to the Governor of the State of Ohio for the Year .

This 2001 book considers the role railroads and streetcars played in transforming the conditions of individual liberty in America.
